A Life Of Service . . .

"And when he fell . . . he went down
As when a lordly cedar, green with boughs,
Goes down with a great shout upon the hills,
And leaves a lonesome place against the sky."

James E. MacMurray, a great benefactor of this college and President of its Board of Trustees, is a bright memory for all. To the alumnae and students of this college his name is foremost in their sincere expression of appreciation. . . .

Our heritage from him is not merely that of classrooms, dormitories, and college halls, but that of lives enriched by good deeds, of character given the quality of eternal usefulness.

Our Friends The McClellands

Credit is due President and Mrs. C. P. McClelland for their kindly concern for student activities and their heartfelt interest in the achievements of the individual student. Such an attitude on the part of MacMurray's president and his wife has, we feel, resulted in a close acquaintanceship between the College's chief executive and its student body, which is unfortunately lacking in many schools otherwise comparable to our own. All of us are personally acquainted with President "Mac" and aware of the numerous and significant contributions furthering the interests of the College which may be traced directly to his efforts. We are delighted by his contagious smile; we are impressed by his demonstrated excellence as business man and educator. No less, we look forward to the friendly hospitality of Mrs. McClelland who, in the course of every school year finds time to entertain each member of the student body at her home. In addition, Mrs. McClelland serves the College in the capacity of Co-ordinator of Activities. Such a varied and sincere regard for student welfare has not gone unmarked by the College. We take this opportunity to say "Thank you both—Dr. and Mrs. "Mac."

The McClellands

Dr. Wendell S. Dysinger, scholastic and vocational counselor, serves as academic dean of the College and contributes to an orientation program for incoming freshmen.

Dean Roma N. Hawkins has again shown herself to be a most gracious adviser, displaying an ever-present interest in student affairs.

Dean Mary E. Baird supervises matters concerning dormitory life and, in addition, serves as adviser for sophomore class activities.

ADMINISTRATION

Mr. Clarendon Smith, MacMurray business manager, has entered whole-heartedly into campus projects. April 11, Mr. Smith was given a commission in the Navy.

An idea man plus is Mr. Harold E. Gibson, director of admissions. In addition, he serves as summer session director, and adviser for the paper and yearbook.

We'll never forget it—Will they ever live it down, the faculty show!

Sally is a senior . . . it is almost wistfully that she turns to review the happiness, the knowledge gained, the faith and service, of the past year . . . the year began with singing . . . Annette Knapheide arranged and directed the songs for the first serenade of the season . . . with her classmates Sal was at home to guests at the Senior Tea arranged by Betty Fay Fry and Eva Mae Chambers . . . Dorothy McGinnis was chairman for the Senior Ball . . . amid "Deep Purple" surroundings Betty Rae Ragan reigned as queen . . . Sal wore cap and gown for chapel . . . Dorothy Beach led the seniors to St. Louis on Cut Day . . . Pat Cole was on hand every Thursday morning with sweet rolls and coffee for a dorm breakfast . . . "Scraps of Ham," directed and produced by Bette Hart, kept the campus rolling in the aisles . . . after the last curtain, sophomores were entertained at a house party. . . the College directory was published, also a new book of Mac songs . . . Seniors ended the year as it was begun . . . but this time they serenaded in farewell as they sang together for the last time "MacMurray, We'll Always Love You."

OUR GRADUATE SCHOOL

MacMurray's graduate school has this year broadened its program to include work on a higher level in the field of physical education as well as psychology. In this new aspect of the graduate program, Dr. Elizabeth Rearick, head of the physical education department of the College, has worked with Dr. H. M. Halverson, director of the school.

By arrangement with the Illinois State Department of Public Welfare, the School for the Deaf, the School for the Blind, the State Mental Hospital, all located within Jacksonville, and the State School and Colony for the Feeble-Minded at Lincoln, as well as the Institute for Juvenile Research at Chicago, opportunity is being offered for practical application of studies.

Enrolled in the program at present are Leone Bruce, Crown Point, Indiana; Peggy Coffman Mosby, Webster Groves, Missouri; June Olney, East Chicago, Indiana; Ann Berry Hendy, Los Angeles, California; and Joanna Levitt, Charleston, Illinois. The first three are working toward a degree in physical education, while Mrs. Hendy is specializing in the study of the retarded child and Miss Levitt is working with the handicapped at the School for the Blind. All five students meet each Wednesday evening for a joint seminar study group conducted by Dr. Halverson.

JANE HALL

Sally was a junior . . . her first campus activity as a member of her class—serenading the freshmen . . . she comforted them during the buffeting initiation strain . . . Sal Royal directed a rollicking frosh party . . . Barb Stuhler planned the Dunlap breakfast for seniors, and Pat Miller, the Mardi Gras project . . . three sources of entertainment were provided—mock style show, comic roller skating coronation, and floor and side shows in the Hub . . . Frosh created angel motifs for Junior Recognition . . . highlighting the junior year, the Prom sparkled brilliantly, its theme "Shining Hour." . . . Virginia Peterson reigned graciously as princess . . . Jeanne Kersten and Mary Gillhouse formed her honor court . . . prom chairman Agnes Sherman and class president Jean Barta completed the procession . . . Palm Sunday, fortified by coffee, Sal serenaded the dormitories with hymns at five a.m. . . . May Day brought the lantern ceremony with Tush Pehlman in charge . . . Rusty Chaney directed the song contest with each class presenting its best . . . elections toward the end of second semester . . . reminders that graduation is near, that the juniors must soon assume the responsibilities of leadership . . . but others have lighted the way—with their guidance it will be easier to follow.

CAP AND GOWN

Around the steps of Old Main Hall, where countless numbers of MacMurray's daughters have received honor in the past, students of the College gathered again after Last Chapel in May, 1943, to witness the choosing of new Cap and Gown members. This ceremony is a traditional one, at which the four retiring girls bestow the rose of friendship, the sisterly kiss, and the mortar board of honor upon their successors. Nancy Black, Ann Laufer, Betty Rae Ragan, and Mary Ellen Smith were designated on this occasion by the graduating seniors, Doris Arnold, Alice Finney, Elizabeth Solem, and Sara Yager. Nancy Black, freshman class president and Junior Prom chairman, climaxed her college career by holding the S. O. S. chairmanship. The Conlee-Kent Cup girl of 1943 and retiring S. G. A. president this year—that is Ann Laufer. Betty Rae Ragan, whose appearance on the Little Theater stage has become a familiar and anticipated occurrence, also has the sophomore class and Y. W. presidencies to her credit. And Mary Ellen Smith, active Theta and S. G. A. member, held the post of judicial director her senior year.

MISS ROSEMARY SHEEHAN

THE CONLEE-KENT CUP

One of MacMurray's favorite daughters, the junior girl who, in her sophomore year best exemplified the College ideals of "Knowledge, Faith, and Service," is Rosemary Sheehan, the Conlee-Kent Memorial Cup winner of 1944. Well-known for her unusual ability and charming poise, "Rosie" is, above everything else, proud of the fact that she's Irish. Pledging Phi Nu and presiding over class activities occupied her sophomore year. She acted as vice-chairman of the S. G. A. last summer and this year fills the positions of Y. W. treasurer and assistant Illiwoco editor. She stands high in scholastic average and campus popularity, the girl with the sweet smile and a shamrock in her heart, Rosie Sheehan.

RAY LEV

Ray Lev, internationally-known Russian-American concert pianist, Carnegie Hall recitalist, and New York Philharmonic soloist, performed before her MacMurray audience with all the brilliance of her masculine technic and feminine refinement.

EDWARD WEEKS

Edward Weeks, editor of the "Atlantic Monthly," brought to MacMurray lively commentary, sound criticism, charming personality. An outstanding authority on contemporary literature, he is one of the most capable speakers to appear on our lecture series.

C. J. HAMBRO

The Honorable C. J. Hambro, president of the Norwegian Parliament and of the League of Nations Assembly, a notable statesman, journalist, and leader in world affairs, analyzed the war and the peace for us with keen judgment.

LECTURE SERIES

LOTTE LEHMANN

Madame Lotte Lehmann, the distinguished dramatic soprano of the Metropolitan Opera, appeared on our concert platform as a noble interpreter——truly the "First Lady of Song." Her performance here was an unforgettable event.

An integral part of every MacMurray girl's education is provided by the Concert-Lecture Series. Every year this group of programs brings to the College prominent speakers and outstanding figures in the world of the arts. Marking the quarter-century point for the Series, the 1943-44 season has in no way deviated from the usual quality of programs presented. In the late spring "The Theater of Angna Enters" displayed her versatility as mimic, dancer, actress, artist, and writer. Miss Enters, whose work is widely recognized, provided a colorful evening for the Series audience.

MARCEL HUBERT

Marcel Hubert is one of the brightest stars in the constellation of famous 'cellists. His unexcelled artistry for haunting lyricism, his vibrant and unusually expressive tones, appealed to MacMurray in a delicate yet virile performance.

THE PLAYERS' GUILD

Eight MacMurray actresses, five of whom were newly initiated, began the year as members of Players' Guild. Initiation stunts called for exercise of dramatic talent from Ann Rhodes, Mary Ann Barnes, Carolyn Carver, Belle Wakeman, and Judy Marston, who entertained their surprised audiences by staging hysteria scenes in the movies and in Hams', fainting spells in the dining hall, and similar fake performances. Early in the fall, election of officers conferred honor upon Phyllis Campbell, president; Joan Lukeman, vice-president; and Belle Wakeman, historian.

Before long, Sunday afternoon reading hours, each featuring a new personality, became a monthly event sponsored by the Guild in the Little Theater. "Doodle Dandy of the U. S. A.", musical fantasy directed by the president, Phyllis Campbell, was presented on March 3, as their contribution to the College dramatic program.

ART DEPARTMENT

Margaret Collins, Pat Lanahan, Agnes Sherman

The Art Department stepped into the limelight this spring with the opening of the largest showing of student work ever undertaken on the MacMurray campus. The exhibition, filling three display centers, consisted mostly of oil paintings done by upperclass art majors. In addition, charcoal drawing, water color, and commercial work were also on view, and the freshmen were represented by work in design and drawing. Beginning May 1, the exhibition marked the opening of a new permanent gallery in Henry Pfeiffer Library, to be used in the future for all sorts of student art work. Canvases displayed in the spring exhibition show that the Art Department has had an extremely stimulating year.

MODERN DANCE CLUB

Anyone who glanced into the Social Room of Main Hall on Tuesday evening during the hour from eight to nine would see a group of modern dance enthusiasts enjoying themselves completely. This group is known as the Modern Dance Club and its members meet for one hour each week with their sponsor, Miss Helen Mahany, to give themselves over to the enjoyment of bodily freedom through modern dance. This club differs from all others on the campus. One unique aspect of the club is that it has no officers or official organization. There are no dues and attendance is not compulsory. There is no need for this because the members of this club are drawn together by an avid interest in dance and attend the meetings because they enjoy them. They turn each meeting into a work shop where they can develop their ideas in dance to the fullest extent.

Mr. Garrels

CHOIR

The twenty-two voice College Choir is made up of personnel selected by tryout from the three upper classes. It is the purpose of the organization to provide sacred music for Tuesday Chapel Services and music of a secular nature for various other functions, like the weekly radio broadcast. The group is also in demand on Sundays for services in local churches. An annual event is the College Choir concert, embracing all types of music, this year presented in collaboration with Madrigal. Choir officers for 1943-44 have been Marjorie Richards, president; Betty Lou Hasenjaeger, secretary; and Kathleen Hempler, librarian.

BAND

The MacMurray College Band is an organization of forty-five members who provide an instrumentation for a full concert band. They meet together twice a week, giving the instrumentalists of the school an opportunity to develop their talent along social as well as technical lines. The Band was not conceived strictly for the function of providing pep for various athletic events, although it is a very colorful part of the annual hockey and basketball games, and when it marches up and down the field in its yellow and gold uniforms, it gives quite a festive atmosphere to the occasion. However, the Band is capable of functioning well in the standard concert literature, and it plays many classic transcriptions, as well as the familiar light marches. Among its musical activities for the year, the Band presented an annual formal concert, took part in the weekly half-hour broadcast, marched in a civic parade, played on the Dads' Day program, and assisted at various other campus activities. The Band is under the direction of Mr. Austin Garrels, and Miss Dorothy Stonecipher, first clarinetist, is the concertmistress.

The Madrigal Club consists of fifty-two girls who like to sing and who meet together twice a week for the purpose of enjoying beautiful choral literature. The majority of the members are freshmen, but membership is open to all classes. The Madrigal Club is a good stepping stone to the College Choir, and participation in it is very desirable for membership in the Choir. However, the Club is a complete unit in itself, and its activities are all directed toward a single goal—the attainment of a finished style in A Capella singing. Madrigal is an integral part of each annual Christmas and Easter Vesper program, when it presents its own group of numbers and also acts in a supplementary manner with the College Choir. In addition to these programs, it takes part in the weekly half-hour broadcast, and traditionally sings in Chapel for the Freshman Recognition Service. The Club is under the direction of Mr. Austin Garrels and has no regular administrative officers.

BELLES LETTRES SOCIETY

A breakfast at the Dunlap Hotel was first on Belles Lettres' 1943-44 program of events. Rushing, centered about a Mother Goose theme, included an entertainment at the Legion Hall and a "Jig and Eat" party at Colonial Inn, concluding with the pinning of eighteen new members. The society participated in the Christmas Bazaar, and junior members planned a candle light ceremony for the close of the semester at which the seniors were presented with bracelets.

LAMBDA ALPHA MU SOCIETY

Lambda's social year began in September with a Hollywood Rush Week, the theme "In the Spotlight" being carried out in an informal studio party at the home of Mrs. Homer Potter and an Academy Awards formal banquet in the Mayfair Room at the Dunlap Hotel. Nine new members were accepted and a skit was presented by the pledges at the meeting following formal initiation. A Christmas party held in the society hall concluded the semester, and seniors graduating at mid-year were given silver memory bracelets.

PHI NU SOCIETY

A colorful South American theme, "Saludos Amigos," was chosen by Phi Nu members for their Rush week activities. Rushees were entertained at Joan Lukeman's home for a gay picnic siesta and found a formal fiesta at the Colonial Inn equally delightful. Hell Week featured the usual black dresses and smart accessories that have become a Phi Nu custom and ended with a riotous program given for the actives with Vicki Meents as mistress of ceremonies. Sandwiched in between fall rushing and the Spring Alumnae Banquet are memories of many happy times together.

THETA SIGMA SOCIETY

Theta Sigma girls rang up the curtain on a year full of good times and pleasant companionship with an "Opening Night" theme for September rushing activities. A party held jointly with Belles Lettres Society in Main Hall Social Room, November 29, proved to be fun for all. The Theta Christmas breakfast followed, and an alumnae coffee February 28 was combined with the formal initiation of second semester pledges. "Modern Art" was the general topic for a number of talks by guest speakers in the course of the year.

INTERSOCIETY COUNCIL

The Intersociety Council concerns itself with the co-ordination and regulation of activities for the four upper-class societies. Included in its membership are the president and vice-president of each of the societies. The group has functioned this year as a clearing house for questions of common interest and has been most successful in adapting the extra-curricular activities under its jurisdiction to war-time conditions. An attempt has been made to relieve an already crowded calendar of events by the elimination of the usual spring open meetings and by the limiting of regular meetings to two each month. Led by Phyllis Campbell of Lambda Alpha Mu, president, and Bettye Bone of Theta Sigma, secretary, Intersociety Council has revised the section of the Brown Book that pertains to rushing, bringing it in line with plans proposed for next year.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Every girl in MacMurray College is a member of the Student Government Association. This means that to every girl is given a sense of the deep responsibility which helps to govern her own activities for upbuilding the standards of the college, for developing general student cooperation and true college spirit and loyalty. Ann Laufer served as president of the Student Association this year; Gabrielle Eisner, as vice-president; Mary Ellen Smith, as judicial director; Betty Benz, as secretary; Rita Sve, as treasurer; Nancy Black, as orientation chairman; Dorothy Stonecipher, as house president of Main Hall; and Mildred Moss, as house president of Harker Hall. Freshman representatives for the year were Joanne Ellis, Mildred Cornelius, Gene Norgren, and Janet Damon.

MAC MURRAY'S AUTHORS

An honorary organization for the would-be writers of MacMurray, the Scribblers' Club, was led this year by Mary Edith Kinnaman, president; Alice Gould, vice-president; and Mary Frances Lyster, secretary-treasurer. Miss Dorothy Burrows, head of the English department, served as sponsor. As in past years, the Scribblers sold MacMurray Christmas cards in December, the cards featuring an original four-line verse by Mary Edith Kinnaman. Activities of this Spring included sponsorship of the All-School Literary Contest, and publication of Inkspirations, the annual literary magazine containing the winning entries. This project was headed by Alice Gould. Phyllis-Ann Smith and Mary Anne Wierman were co-chairmen of the open meeting, called "Hyx from the Styx," given towards the end of the second semester. The year's activities came to an end this spring with a party at "Wag's" for all the members.

Y. W. C. A. HAS A BUSY YEAR

A candle-lighted recognition service in Centenary Church, where installation of officers took place . . . a rollicking good time at the P. E. Cabin for the retiring and incoming cabinets—here we have the beginning and the end of Y. W.'s 1943-44 on the MacMurray College campus. The organization leaders this year were Betty Rae Ragan, president; Ann Louise Rataichak, vice-president; Betty Stanford, secretary; and Rosemary Sheehan, treasurer. When the calendar brought Thanksgiving to the campus, the Y. W. C. A. sponsored an afternoon tea dance in keeping with the festive spirit of the day. This year the customary children's Christmas party was replaced by more extensive buying of gifts for underprivileged children in foster homes. And in the College dining hall MacMurrians were already beginning to count the days until vacation on huge, red Christmas candles, a traditional Y. W. contribution to the holiday atmosphere. January brought a successful W. S. S. F. Drive, collections for which broke all previous records, reaching a grand total of $519.15.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

The weekly news "round ups" have brought I. R. C. to the attention of every member of the student body. Instituted last year, these round ups are one of the chief means through which the club attempts to increase student interest in world affairs. Discussion groups were conducted in each dormitory on the subject "The Post War World," and at the first of the second semester, an all-school panel discussion on the general topic "Peace." International Relations Club is one of many such chapters sponsored by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. Presiding over the club's monthly meetings is Lucille Sommer. Other officers are Margaret Jackson, vice-president; Sally Conant, secretary; and Bette Hart, treasurer. I. R. C. has for its able adviser, Dr. Walter B. Hendrickson.

WAR COUNCIL AND RED CROSS UNITS

As the day of victory nears, the MacMurray War Council and Red Cross Unit have steadily increased their activities on campus. The first project of the War Council, headed by Theodora Weers, was participation in the Civilian Defense Day Parade, in which the Council featured a float, and the College Air Raid Wardens' Corps marched. Next came a Jeep Drive, completed in February, when the $1,165 goal was reached. A Bomber Drive towards $15,000 was soon begun, and a faculty bond rally in that connection was conducted in March.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The large membership of around fifty girls in the Home Economics Club reflects the campus-wide interest in home economics. The club is composed of those majoring in the science of home economics, and its general purpose is to create a feeling of congeniality and friendship among a group interested in the same field of endeavor. Officers for the year 1943-44 have been the following girls: Betty Fay Fry, president; Barbara Vedder, vice-president; Geraldine Rapp, secretary; and Vivian Sackrison, treasurer. Miss Gladys Wardwell became the new adviser for the organization this year. This fall, proving their interest in new ideas of homemaking, the members gathered for an experimental supper, composed of various types of soy bean dishes. In addition, the group has had table parties and a Christmas party. This spring, a moving picture on pottery was featured at one meeting.

TIRONIAN CLUB

The future businesswomen of America—these are the Tironians, members of a club devoted to the interests and aspirations of business majors and minors. Officers of the organization this year were these: Dorothy Beach, president; Gwen Schwab, vice-president; Barbara Kent, treasurer; and secretary, Marjorie Conklin. One of the highlights of Tironian's activities this year was the Christmas party, held on December 18. Back at school again after Christmas vacation, the members planned table parties on a business theme for the night of January 12. The most prominent event of the year was the annual spring banquet, with a Saint Patrick's day theme, held at the Dunlap Hotel on March 4. At this, a woman lawyer, Vera Binx, gave the principal address. A party out at the Cabin on April 14 completed the year's activities.

TOWN GIRLS' CLUB

The new fall term opened with celebration for the sixty-eight members of Town Girls' Club, who were, for the first time, taking over Corner Cupboard to use as a headquarters for the year. First on their calendar of events was a picnic at the P. E. Cabin, planned by the new president, Dorothy McGinnis, in honor of incoming freshmen. Other new Club officers were Helen Ingram, vice-president; Mary Barbara Gruber, secretary; Betty Hamilton, treasurer; Anna Louise Rataichak, social chairman; and Jean Hutchison, house chairman. The sponsor is Dr. Elsa P. Kimball. Early in the spring a bake sale under the direction of Mary Ellen Wagner was held to raise funds for the "Irish Jig," sponsored by the Town Girls on March 18.

KINDERGARTEN CLUB

A. C. E., an organization to further interest in childhood education, was ably piloted this year by Ruth Jane Lang, president. The other officers were Mary Gillhouse, vice-president; Toshie Toda, secretary; and Martha Irwin, treasurer. The MacMurray Association of Childhood Education is one of the eight branches of Illinois State A. C. E. and is affiliated with the national organization. The State Convention, which was held in Peoria, was attended by Virginia Reese and Miss Addenbrooke. The annual Christmas Bazaar sponsored jointly with Y. W. C. A. proved to be a successful project. Another seasonal event was a Christmas party at the home of Miss Gwendolyn Addenbrooke, society sponsor, to which each member brought gifts for the Children's Center, a nursery school for children of working parents. The traditional operetta was performed by the kindergarten under the direction of practice teachers. The year ended delightfully in May with a breakfast for the seniors at Nichols Park.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING . . .

Here it is—after months of planning and compiling, and more than one wakeful night, the staff of the 1944 Illiwoco presents your copy of this year's book of memories. More time and thought than the uninitiated may imagine has gone into the production of the volume, and the staff is most sincere in its hope that the 1944 Illiwoco will meet with general campus approval. Mr. Harold E. Gibson, Director of Admissions, has served as adviser, and positions of responsibility have been filled by the following juniors: Mary Edith Bradley, editor; Rosemary Sheehan, assistant editor; Alice Godard, literary editor; Ann Lippincott, index editor; June Hauer and Frances Nash, sports editor and assistant; Natacha Pehlman, art editor; and Elizabeth Minard, staff photographer. Margrette Lyman, Alice Gould, Lystie Lyster, and Mardee Fischer have assisted in preparing copy for the volume.

. . . STRICTLY BUSINESS

No waste motion has been permitted by this year's business staff in its efforts to deal efficiently with the business of publishing the 1944 Illiwoco. Janie Frank, business manager, and Mary Ann Barnes, assistant business manager, have been aided in their task by Martha Irwin and Jane Goiens, advertising manager and assistant; and Jane Shook and Doris Rickard, circulation manager and assistant. Sources of financial backing for the project were student and faculty subscriptions, advertising purchased by Jacksonville merchants, and income from school organizations. Funds thus raised have been used by the combined business and editorial staff members in the production of the 1944 Illiwoco, an effort being made to use every penny to the best advantage.

ness staff, composed of about twenty young MacMurrians with a practical turn of mind. Managers Marian Stewart and Rosanna Shanks, acting first and second semesters respectively this year, have directed staff activities, which include selling advertising, selling subscriptions, collecting and paying bills. Other staff workers holding important posts during the year were Reba Coppock, Gloria Barbre, June Hauer, Alice Hogans, LaRue White, Mary Ann Barnes, and Jeanne Valentine.

Two sponsors guide Alpha Kappa Sigma through the year.

Margrette Lyman, Ginny Turner, president, and Arline Durkin.

ALPHA KAPPA SIGMA

Alpha Kappa Sigma freshman society has completed a most successful year under the guidance of Margrette Lyman during first semester and Arline Durkin, second semester. Officers served the group through the entire year and were installed in early October as follows: Virginia Turner, president; Virginia Sutter, vice-president; Jane White, secretary; Joan Wells, treasurer; and Margaret Sloan, recorder. Table parties in McClelland Hall were arranged, and the society's formal coffee was held in Jane Hall Lounge before Christmas. The Alpha Kaps sponsored the fish pond at the Y. W.-A. C. E. Bazaar.

Eleanor Pack, President
Mardee Fischer, Sponsor

DELTA THETA NU

For the second time in the past three years, Delta Theta Nu freshman society has succeeded in carrying away the cup awarded annually for the best one-act play presentation. This year's play, a light comedy called "Antic Spring," was under the direction of Alice Gould and was received very favorably by judge and audience alike. Delta Theta Nu's activities have been directed by Margaret Fischer with the following officers being installed last fall: Eleanor Pack, president; Bea Parson, vice-president; Harriet Hatch, secretary; Winifred Shultz, treasurer; and Dorothy Loer, recorder. Table parties preceded the formal coffee held in the main lounge of Jane Hall first semester.

EPSILON KAPPA PHI

Under the sponsorship of Jeanne Kersten, Epsilon Kappa Phi freshman society has enjoyed an interesting and varied year of activity. Officers were elected in September as follows: Teel Richter, president; Marilyn Ford, vice-president; Dorothy Stone, treasurer; Dorothy Martin, secretary; and Dorothy Chisam, recorder. The group planned and carried out the sale of table cloths and dresser scarfs at the Y. W.-A. C. E. Christmas Bazaar. The society's play contest entry, "The Dyspeptic Ogre," was directed by Mary Kay Mallers with the assistance of Mary Ellen Smith and Judy Marston. A formal coffee was held in the main lounge of Jane Hall with the College faculty as guests. Table parties presented an opportunity for the singing of Epsilon Kappa Phi songs, and the society joined with Phi Kappa Delta for a spring sports party which included swimming and badminton.

KAPPA SIGMA THETA

Kappa Sigma Theta opened its year of social activity with an overnight party at the P. E. cabin. December 4 the society, which is sponsored by Ann Rhodes, sold illustrated stationery at its booth at the Christmas Bazaar. A formal Faculty Coffee in Ann Rutledge Lounge December 9 was preceded by table parties in McClelland Hall. The Kappa Sigma Theta play contest entry, "Good Night, Caroline," directed by Ann Rhodes, was awarded honorable mention with special citations for outstanding acting going to Virginia Ward, Ruth Deising, and June Schwartz. In the spring, society members were entertained with a skating party, a swimming party, and a formal banquet. Officers for the year were Rosemary Fleming, president; Barbara Cross, vice-president; Virginia Hinrichsen, secretary; Betty Rose Martin, treasurer; and Virginia Ward, recorder.

PHI TAU EPSILON

Phi Tau Epsilon freshman society began its year in September with the election of officers—Marjorie Stout, president; Betsy Ross Collins, vice-president; Gloria Bate, secretary; Muriel Hansen, treasurer; and Betty Jo Bett, recorder. A trip to the P. E. cabin proved to be fun for all, and the faculty coffee, with sponsor Lucille Sommer greeting guests, was most successful. A Christmas party and a booth at the Christmas Bazaar next occupied the attention of members. Table parties in McClelland Hall followed. Phi Tau Epsilon's entry in the one-act play competition was "Rich Man, Poor Man," directed by Carolyn Carver. Members entered whole-heartedly into plans and practices for a serenade and reported at the end of the year that Phi Tau had proved to be a welcome opportunity to become acquainted.

Agnes Sherman, Sponsor

PHI KAPPA DELTA

Phi Kappa Delta freshman society, sponsored by Agnes Sherman, selected its officers at the beginning of the school year as follows: Janet Damon, president; Dorothy Carter, vice-president; Elaine Crocker, secretary; Dorothy Schuler, treasurer, and Harriet Perbix, recorder. The group's formal coffee was held December 2, and a Christmas party preceded the winter holidays. "A Matter of Choice," directed by Helen Robertson, was the society's contribution to the one-act play contest. Supper at the P. E. cabin was enjoyed by the Phi Kappa Delta girls March 12, followed by an over-night stay there on April 21. A sports party at which the main attraction was swimming was held in conjunction with Phi Tau Epsilon members, and a formal banquet, presided over by Janet Damon, concluded the year's activities.

Dutch heads the Board

The Athletic Association Board, a group composed of the officers of the A. A., with class and town girls' representatives, under the sponsorship of Miss Elizabeth Rearick, coordinates the A.A. activities. This year, they arranged for competition with Lindenwood and Monticello. On March 4, a dance play day was inaugurated under their auspices. A banquet for the incoming and outgoing members of the A.A. Board and Council came at the end of the year. Their purchase of a $75 War Bond this year starts a Student Aid Fund. The money is to be loaned to any senior interested in physical education, not necessarily majoring in it, if she requires financial assistance in order to finish her last year of college.

SPORTS MANAGERS COMPOSE ATHLETIC COUNCIL

The Athletic Association Council, headed by A.A. vice-president June Hauer, consists of the sports managers in the A.A. program. This fall, Council and Board members had a party at the Cabin. Their joint spring banquet concluded the activity program. Sports managers were these: Mary Huntoon, hockey; Barbara Blake, bowling; Philna Jacobi, tennis; Elizabeth Hicks, bowling on the green; Frances Nash, swimming; Barbara Stuhler, badminton; Mary Ann Barnes, M.C.D.T.; Rose Essley, ping-pong; Dorothea Dunbar, hiking; Celeste Quick, outdoor roller skating; Marjorie Stone, basketball; Mariellen Dunnington, volleyball; Dorothy McGinnis, golf; Alice Godard and Jeanne Valentine, archery; and Shirley Halverson, riding.

FRONT ROW: Pat Heffer, Hape Ayrault, Anne Ingram, Frances Nash, June Hauer.

Members of the Physical Education Club are those girls who are either P.E. majors or minors. This year, the highlights on the P.E. Club schedule began on October 15, with an overnight trek to the Cabin for initiation of the new freshman majors. As part of their duties in keeping up the Cabin, they gave it a coat of paint on its north side, October 23. "Club 13," an all-school entertainment, was inaugurated by the group last year, and reopened this year on November 13, guided by the able chairmanship of Barbara Blake. Officers of the P.E. Club for the first semester were these: Jean Cameron, president; Jean Smith, vice-president; Mary Huntoon, secretary; Mary Glenn Kirkland, treasurer; and Sally Royal, social chairman. These leaders served second semester: Jean Smith, president; Pat Heffer, vice-president; Mary Huntoon, secretary; Dorothy Chaney, treasurer; and, Anne Ingram, social chairman.

The MacMurray Riding Club was led this year by Natacha Pehlman, president; Peg Smith, vice-president; Lucy Howard, secretary; Helen Fortinberry, treasurer; Bea Parsons, program chairman; and, Shirley Halverson, A.A. representative. Mrs. C. R. Crabtree, instructor of riding, was sponsor. Notable among the programs was a survey of the leading horsemen in the country, the results of which were presented at the March meeting of the club. Members of the riding team were the following: Hope Ayrault, Gloria Bate, Helen Fortinberry, Jane Grimes, Lucy Howard, Ruth Kauffman, Peg Kilmer, Mary Lemon, Natacha Pehlman, and Barbara Roper. They competed in meets here with Monticello in November, and with Lindenwood in March, going to Lindenwood in April for another. The Annual All-School Horse Show concluded the year's activities.

HOCKEY BATTLE FINDS NAVY ON TOP

An exciting hockey season was concluded with the sounding of the timer's gun at 10:50 Thanksgiving morning. The student body turned out in full force for this traditional game in which the freshmen and juniors, as the Navy, contended with the sophomores and seniors, or Army. Dr. Elizabeth Rearick and Miss Helen Mahany refereed for this very close game, ending 2-1 in favor of the Navy. Preceding the final game was a class tournament in which the Junior team was victorious, not once being defeated.

Army Players

ALL SCHOOL CHAMPS . . . THE VARSITY

The Varsity Hockey Team, selected from the membership of the Army and Navy groups, included the following girls: Barbara Blake, Jean Cameron, Jean Smith, Maybelle Reeder, Dorothea Dunbar, Betty Emerson, June Hauer, Anne Ingram, Frances Nash, Esther Singer, Rita Sve, Rose Marie Essley, and Joan Daker. Though these girls did not actually play as a team, their combined abilities would have been enough to make the most confident opponent wary. Other events of the hockey season included a game with Monticello on our field. The Mac team, composed of girls from all classes, defeated the visitors. The season was officially concluded with hockey table parties. Credit for its success should go to Mary Huntoon, sports manager, and Miss Helen Mahany, adviser.

THE ARMY SINKS THE NAVY!

An excited audience watched interestedly as the Army-Navy game this season concluded in a victory for Army team by a score of 22-11. Preliminary to the final Army-Navy playoff was a competition for class championship. In a close match, the Juniors captured the title with a score of 18-15, the final match being played with the Senior team. Miss Spencer, the adviser, and Marjorie Stone, basketball manager, deserve much credit for the successful sports season.

The Varsity Basketball Team is each year selected from the Army, composed of sophomores and seniors, and the Navy, composed of freshmen and juniors. The combined strength of the two teams is thus included in the choice of varsity players. The team, as announced at the basketball table parties held at the conclusion of the season, is as follows: Mary Huntoon, Philna Jacobi, Esther Singer, Rita Sve, Anne Ingram, Betty Emerson, Pat Heffer, Jane Clements, and Rose Marie Essley. Miss Carrie Spencer, sport adviser, presided at the announcement of the team and characterized each player and her particular skills briefly as she called the names of the 1944 Varsity Team members. The season concluded with a sports day held at Monticello College on March 18. A MacMurray team, including players from all four classes, participated.

Big splashes in the College calendar were added by the Macquatics Club this year. First disturbance of the waters took place in the early fall, caused by the initiation of thirteen new members. Creating ever-widening circles of ripples among the spectators, but scarcely any in the water, Ginny Fitzgerald, central AAU champion, gave an exhibition of her diving form during an interclass tourney the twenty-eighth of January. The final splurge of the club was the Dads' Day Water Show, "Rainbow of Rhythm," featuring float patterns, harmony in stroke, diving and specialty numbers. This program was presented April 4, 5, and 6 under the direction of June Hauer, who is also president of the organization. Sally Royal is vice-president; Alice Carpenter was the secretary for the first semester and Mary Huntoon, secretary for the second; Jayne Armour is treasurer; Marilyn Manske, publicity manager; and Miss Carrie Spencer, sponsor of the group.
